Amsterdam University Press supports STEM researchers with key publications in their field; AUP connects authors with readers through worldwide marketing and an international network of distributors and partners.

STEM journals: As an experienced Open Access publisher, Amsterdam University Press can publish journals in all disciplines. With state-of-art platforms and technology to support your authors and readers and with a personal approach that helps to build your reputation. We can help journals transition from a traditional model to Open Access and to reach the quality level needed for an Impact Factor. Open Access at AUP fully complies with funder mandates.

STEM books and book series:

Amsterdam University Press supports both print and online books, with full Open Access options. We provide high quality and professional production, we ensure your books are mentioned in relevant catalogues and at academic conferences. We have global distribution partnerships with distributors in US and Canada, Europe, China, India and Japan. We work with Knowledge Unlatched and OAPEN/DOAB to ensure a wide distribution of our Open Access books.

Proposals Welcome

We welcome proposals for scholarly monographs and book series in English on all topics in science, technology, engineering and medicine.
