Syntax of Hungarian

Volumes One and Two

Nouns and Noun Phrases

These books aim to present a synthesis of the currently available syntactic knowledge of the Hungarian language, rooted in theory but providing highly detailed descriptions, and intended to be of use to researchers, as well as advanced students of language and linguistics. As research in language leads to extensive changes in our understanding and representations of grammar, the Comprehensive Grammar Resources series intends to present the most current understanding of grammar and syntax as completely as possible in a way that will both speak to modern linguists and serve as a resource for the non-specialist.

Gábor Alberti is professor and Chair at the Department of Linguistics at the University of Pécs, Hungary.

Tibor Laczkó is associate professor and chair at the Department of English Linguistics, and director of the Institute of English and American Studies at the University of Debrecen, Hungary.

LANGUAGES AND CULTURE IN HISTORY

This series studies the role foreign languages have played in the creation of the linguistic and cultural heritage of Europe, both western and eastern, and at the individual, community, national or transnational level.

By Mathilde Kang

Francophonie en Orient

Aux croisements France-Asie (1840-1940)

This book offers a pioneering study of Asian cultures that officially escaped from French colonisation but nonetheless were steeped in French civilisation in the colonial era and had heavily French-influenced, largely francophone literatures. It raises a number of provocative questions, including whether colonisation is the ultimate requirement for a culture's being defined as francophone, or how to think about francophone literatures that emerge from Asian nations that were historically free from French domination. The ultimate result is a redefining of the Asian francophone heritage according to new, transnational paradigms.

Mathilde Kang is a lecturer at the University of Technology Sydney, Australia.
